

Mandatory Signs

Mandatory

Indicates a specific course of action to be taken, which cannot be ignored.

Mandatory signs are always circular with a white centralised symbol on a blue background.

Mandatory signs are just as binding as obligatory signs. This means that if a mandatory sign is placed at an entrance or on equipment, a person who enters the room or uses the equipment must observe the right course of action and use the prescribed safety gear.

Example:

Wear ear protectors

This sign enforces the use of ear protectors and can be placed at the entrance of workplaces where the noise level exceeds 90 dB A. The sign does not have to be taken literally at all times, e.g. methods other than ear protectors can be used to protect ears from noise pollution. Safety text can be used to improve the clarity of the sign.
